

Wednesday 3rd
March 2021

Coworking

in New Caledonia, a rapidly expanding space

In New Caledonia, the number of coworking spaces is exponentially increasing.

These premises, specially designed for businesses, enable them to come together and focus on the essential: their development and the development of their sector.

Saving time, reducing stress and expenses, coworking allows New Caledonian entrepreneurs not to think about the problems associated with setting up a workplace.

Everything is provided by these collective spaces such as Workspace Nouméa coworking, La Station coworking or Province Sud coworking, specially designed to offer the best professional conditions.

An innovative community

This system works particularly well in the digital sector, a field known to be transversal. OoTECH, the CIPAC business centre, has understood this by opening the first coworking space dedicated to technology and innovation. In the heart of Nouméa's city centre, this building offers 2000m<sup>2</sup> of rental space. It is also a community gathered around the OoTECH Club whose objective is to exchange, collaborate and create to invent the world of tomorrow. An animation program will be organized every month with lectures, debates, after works or reflection workshops, led by speakers who are experts in their field. OoTECH, is also a satellite relay of the Station N program, deployed by the government.

Station N in Nouville, inaugurated in November 2020, is a 400m<sup>2</sup> extensible workspace completely dedicated to the Tech ecosystem, which aims to develop the digital sector while promoting exchanges and synergies, initiatives and innovation.

Business life made easier

In this regard of shared work life, centres such as CCI coworking, in Nouméa and in Koné, or La Caravane coworking, in Nouméa, provide equipped and secure offices, shared services and collective spaces. The Coworking Hub, in Ducos, goes further, by adding to its open space a "business centre" which offers all the legal, financial or human resources skills necessary for a business owner.

Thus, more than a place for sharing and exchange, the coworking space becomes a real business engine. A facility for players focused on innovation, who can exercise their activity alongside partners in the same field or similar sectors, in the comfort of an environment designed for everyday professional life.